2 ELECTED TO WATER BOARD

Caldwell Unanimous Choice In Division One; Brisk Contest At Missouri Flat

The regular election of directors in El Dorado Irrigation District was held Wednesday, naming officers in two of the five divisions of the district. The directors in the other three districts each have a year more of their terms to serve.

The election was held in Division One, at Camino, and in Division Five, at Missouri Flat and unofficial figures indicate the unanimous reelection of W. A. Caldwell, at Camino, and the election of W. J. Clark at Missouri Flat.

Mr. Caldwell was unopposed for reelection and polled all of the nine votes cast.

In the Fifth Division no nominee qualified to have his name on the ballot. George Ihnen, incumbent, declined to become a candidate for reelection, reportedly owing to the condition of his health.

In the election, a brisk write-in contest developed between Mr. Clark and Roy Marks, who had previously served as a board member, and the unofficial returns report 40 votes for Mr. Clark and 37 votes for Mr. Marks.

The regular meeting of the directors of the district is scheduled for Tuesday, February 7th, at which time, presumably, the vote will be canvassed and organization for the new year effected.

The meeting will be at the Shakespeare Clubhouse and the dinner will be served by a committee of the ladies of the club.

ORIN W. VAN VLECK IS GIVEN SURPRISE HOUSEWARMING

The newly built home of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Van Vleck, at Michigan Bar, Sacramento County, was fully initiated into use on Wednesday evening when twenty cars carrying about sixty persons gathered and gave the Van Vlecks an old-fashioned housewarming.

It was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Van Vleck and their son, Stanley, and the group of those present included friends from as far away as Oakland.

A most enjoyable evening was spent and a bounteous lunch, provided by the members of the party, was served after which, at a late hour, the guests dispersed to their various homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Van Vleck much happiness in their new home.

Among those in Placerville and vicinity who shared in the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. George Van Vleck, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Moore, Forest Supervisor and Mrs. Edwin F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Helen Schneider, Miss Thelma Peterson, Elmer Van Vleck.

As a remembrance of the occasion, the group presented Mr. and Mrs. Van Vleck with an electric clock.

The talented troupe, direct from Moscow, will present along with a performance of the well known, famous side Farm Center, for at that time the members will be entertained at the famous quarter of the dance, the Ox.

The ballet is brought to a brilliant climax by the dazzling pirouetting of prima ballerina Alexia Lafaille and closed with a smashing finale by the entire troupe in the Now You Chase Me polka. The musical score is played by that masterful accompanist Miss Helena U. Hestonoff on the celebrated Rushing instrument, the Victrolagraph.

The Northside Center presents the illustrious exponents of the art of the art absolutely free of charge in connection with the restaurant. The carrying vegetables or back will be denied admittance.

Public Debt Rises To $39 Billions

WASHINGTON, 41—The treasury revealed today that it ended the first seven months of the current fiscal year with a deficit of $11.8 billion. The public debt continued its rise to new record heights, reaching $39,631,276,260 on Jan. 31.

NEW STORM HITS STATE SWEEPING SOUTHWARD FROM ARCTIC

SAN FRANCISCO, 42—A new A.A. Rain storm struck northern California today, bringing heavy snow to the mountains, rains to the valleys and strong winds along the coast.

The weather bureau predicted rain and snow for the north coast of California today. The forecast was based on a low pressure system moving southward from the Arctic.

The bureau predicted continued low temperatures, freezing and sub-freezing marks were recorded in several sections of the state. Redding reported 14 degrees, and Fresno and Sacramento both experienced freezing weather.

BRE'ER JOE GROUNDHOG SEES HIS SHADOW; SPRING DELAYED

CANOE RIDGE WEATHER WORKS, Punxsutawney, Pa., 43—Bre'er Joe Groundhog today vindictively cast a black shadow that foretold six weeks more of winter and vowed he is one dictator who isn't making an alliance with anyone.

The furry weather seer came out of his burrow for the benefit of the Punxsutawney citizens who have a quaint superstition that the prognostication of the woodchuck of Gobbler's Knob, Canoe Ridge, is the official one. So Joe obligingly jumped on the casting block, squinted at the sun and threw a black shadow which means six weeks more of bad weather. If there had been no sun and no shadow, Spring would have been just around the corner, so the tradition goes.

RAIN 55 PCT. OF NORMAL

Rainfall in Placerville for the water year including the last storm, is 11.98 inches or about 55 per cent of "normal", it was announced on Thursday morning by Adolph Martin, local P. G. & E.-Weather Bureau co-operative observer.

Snow fell at low levels in the county on Tuesday of this week and after a brisk fall of short duration that afternoon, the ground was white in the county seat and remained so during the night but the slight fall was dissipated by the sun on Wednesday.

At the close of the storm, the State Division of Highways office at Smith Flat reported that U. S. Route 50 is closed to travel at Twin Bridges. Drivers of cars going into the snow sports area are advised at the Six-Mile stone to put on chains.

Snow depths are reported as follows: twelve inches at Pollock Pines; fourteen inches at Kyburz; eighteen inches at Fred's; twenty-four inches at Strawberry and thirty-six inches at Twin Bridges.

Finance Drive Under Way

Historical Society Has One-Third Of $1,200 Goal Achieved

Chairman Ruel V. Whigham of the Finance Committee reported Thursday morning that pledges exceeding $400 have been received toward the building fund of the El Dorado County Historical Society.

The new Historical building, to be opened on Sacramento Street about April first will be a center of many varied activities. It will be a boon to the teachers of the county and a particular help to the school children who hitherto have not had ready access to the many valuable records and relics of the days of El Dorado County's early history.

Provision will be made for the officers of the society to have a suitable headquarters in which they will be able to receive and compile important documents and stories of El Dorado County.

The building will further provide more ample space for the Chamber of Commerce. A conveniently located conference room in the rear of the building will be available to various organizations and committees for small meetings.

The list of contributors is constantly growing to include many public spirited citizens of the county. The list to date includes:

Graniteville Welcomes "Air Mail Service"

GRANITEVILLE, 45—This tiny hamlet today boasted airmail service. The entire population of 25 turned out when "Doc" Von Neal, a Nevada City, Calif., private pilot, circled the snowbound village five times and dropped five sacks of mail—three days' accumulation.

Services For Placerville Dentist To Be Held On Friday At Ten O'Clock

The funeral services for Dr. Arthur Loring White, will be held on Friday morning at ten o'clock from the Dillinger mortuary chapel. The Rev. Rex A. Barron, of the Church of Our Saviour, will officiate. Following the last rites the body will be removed to Cypress Lawn cemetery, San Mateo County, for interment.

Dr. White died suddenly on Wednesday morning while at work in his dental offices. The doctor is reported to have been working on a patient when, without comment, he retired to his laboratory, sat upon a couch to rest and, presumably, fell from a sitting posture onto the couch, dead.

Dr. White was a native of Cambridge, this state. He was engaged in practice at San Francisco and also at Oakland prior to coming to El Dorado County about eighteen years ago.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by one son, Loring, who is employed in the federal fruit and vegetable inspection service, and who returned home Wednesday after receiving word of his father's passing.

NEW OPTOMETRIST TAKES OVER PRACTICE IN PLACERVILLE

Dr. Hynton I. Sharman, of Burlingame, arrived in Placerville the fore part of the week and is taking over the practice of Dr. Walter F. Conzelman in optometry.

Dr. Conzelman left at the mid-week for Washington state.

Dr. Sharman comes from Burlingame, where he has been in practice and states he was attracted to Placerville because of its location in the state and the possibilities of developing a successful practice, and because of the proximity of the community to the recreation areas.

He is a graduate of the University of California School of Optometry and at his offices in the Forni Building will offer complete physical eye examinations, orthopedic corrective treatments and the fitting of glasses.

Dr. Sharman's offices will be open daily except Sunday, from nine o'clock until noon and from one o'clock until five, with Saturday morning until one o'clock in the hours from nine o'clock in the afternoon.

LEGION CIVIC DINNER HELD

Draft Board Member Invites Post To Be His Guests In Fall

The annual civic dinner of El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion, was held Wednesday night at the War Veterans' Memorial Building. Guests included members of the war-time draft board, county officials, some of the county's civic and business leaders and non-member business and professional men of the community.

A feature of the evening was an invitation extended by W. A. Caldwell, a member of the war-time draft board to the members of the post to "eat with me next fall."

Mr. Caldwell said he had been seeking for some time past some suitable way to demonstrate his appreciation of the post's hospitality in inviting him to attend their annual civic dinner, and next fall would take up the matter of carrying out the invitation.

The meeting convened for a seven o'clock supper prepared and served by members of the post at the close of which Post Commander A. N. Weber called the group to order for an informal session.

Committeemen Of Eight Counties Coming For Two-Day Conference

Approximately thirty committeemen from seven counties in addition to our own, which have the secretarial headquarters for their several county Agricultural Conservation Associations in Placerville, will meet here Monday for a two-day conference.

The Monday morning meeting is to convene at the court house at the Superior Court room.

Special interest is being shown in the conference because of the promised attendance of W. B. Parker, state executive for the conservation association and Leland Drew, regional supervisor.

The conference will concern itself chiefly with the program for the ensuing year and on the second day will include a tour of certain sections of the county for an inspection of various range and farm lands on which conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Association's supervision are being carried out.

FAIR FUNDS RECEIVED BY COUNTY FROM STATE

District Attorney Henry S. Lyon announced early Thursday afternoon that checks have been received by himself and County Clerk Arthur J. Koletzke, who were named several weeks ago as the county's agents in the matter, from the State Department of Finance, for an amount aggregating $14,404.85, for the county fair.

This amount, Mr. Lyon said, covers the premium distribution of the last fair and includes an additional amount for the recent purchase of the new fair site from Loren Forni plus an additional amount for permanent improvement of the new site.

Development of plans for beginning permanent improvements will be the next step, Mr. Lyon said.

F. E. Brown was a visitor in the county seat Thursday from the Fairplay section, and paid us the compliment of a visit.

Stewart Says—

Economists of Old No Benefit Now To Congressional Leaders

By CHARLES F. STEWART (Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Politicians on Capitol Hill scarcely could credit their own senses the other day when they read the news of Colonel Frank Knox's appearance as an advocate of plenty of tariff reduction.

The vice presidential candidate on the Republican party's last national ticket turning against protective import taxation—a doctrine that the G.O.P. has sworn by ever since it was born! It was enough to make any Hamiltonian (or Jeffersonian) doubt the evidence of his own ears and eyes. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the boss apostle of international trade reciprocity, could not have pointed more capably to the economic evils of commercial barriers between countries than Colonel Knox did in that speech before an audience of farmers at Pierre (S. D.). The fact is, the colonel might almost run for office as an old-time Democrat, since he feels about the tariff as he says he does. He also referred favorably to tax reduction. New Dealers are not so enthusiastic for that. Neither, however, are old-fashioned Democrats so hostile to it, and they were the ones I suggested as somewhat in sympathy with Colonel Knox—the New Dealers, if they and the oldtimers are fellow Democrats at all.

It is significant that it was an agricultural gathering to which the colonel addressed himself. All gatherings are predominantly agricultural in that neck of the woods. They used to be predominantly Republican, too. With the New Deal's advent they flopped the other way. The 1938 election showed them flopping semi-back to the G.O.P. side. It was a Republican victory blow, out to which Colonel Knox talked.

As to the Tariff, Though But to get back to the protective tariff issue—

In Uncle Samuel's early days we had a lot of agriculture—raw materials.

Our farmers did not need much protection. Their land was free. There was no such thing as mechanized competition. They were in the best shape of any soil-tillers on earth. But our manufacturers were up against a stiff proposition. They had established big overseas companies to buck. I suppose they were entitled to a bit of governmental support.

Well, they got it. They waxed fat on it, as we know. Away back in my childhood I recall that one of our leading statesmen said, "I believe in nourishing infant industries, but I think the limit has been reached when an infant threatens to get out of the cradle and kick your head off if you do not nourish him still more."

Meanwhile agriculture gradually had been going on the Fritz. Free land was gone. Manufacturing simultaneously had gained a stranglehold on nearly everything.

Manufacturing could keep out imports. Agriculture necessarily depended on exports.

Northern agriculture fell for this program for years. My old home state of Iowa consistently believed it could build up overseas markets for its crops by barring imports from overseas—dead against Hawkeye interests, of course. Ditto all other farm states.

I know why it was. Our northwesterners were post-Civil War veterans. It was sectional. It was idiotic, too. It was habit—nothing else.

Labor's Interest The theory is that labor's interest is pro-high tariff. It is supposed to mean high pay.

Maybe so, but it means high prices likewise. I can remember when $1,200 yearly was rated as a fair income. It is a mere pittance now.

The income is all right, but it will not buy anything. The tariff seems to be what has raised Cain.

So far as I know, Colonel Knox is the only Republican who has talked Republican-Democratic economic sense. Secretary of State Hull has talked it, too—but he is a Democrat.

Colonel Knox and Secretary Hull are a queer pair.

Colfax, was a guest of the evening and spoke briefly, telling of some of the work being done in the legislature.

Mr. Thurman indicated he later hopes to come to Placerville to spend a day in the county and perhaps, discuss a little more fully some of the legislation in which El Dorado County is particularly concerned.

Former Sheriff Charles E. Hand was called upon by the Post Commander for a brief talk and recalled that at the time the United States entered the war, he and the late Judge Arnot and the late Abe Darlington, were named a committee of three, a county-wide Council of Defense was formed, also the draft exemption board, and the county-wide organization which went about, speaking in every schoolhouse and hall of the county in support of the first, Second and Third Liberty Loans with signal success.

Mr. Hand paid tribute to the work of the county Red Cross women workers. The county chapter, he said, had a membership of 3,800 and the women worked hard making bandages and other essentials for use overseas. He paid special compliment to Mrs. W. A. Rantz for her leadership and recalled that the local group with which Mrs. Hand was associated had made 22,000 articles, bandages, etc., during the war period.

W. A. Caldwell, a member of the war-time draft board, requested the members of the post to be his guests in the fall, as reported above, and paid tribute to the work of Mr. E. W. Wiltmer, Judge M. P. Bennett, Judge Arnot, Dr. W. A. Rantz and Judge George H. Thompson for their work as members of the board.

One member of the board, he said, whom he felt had done a tremendous amount of the work and who had never been publicly credited for it was the late George Roller.

In the absence of the chairman of the Board of Supervisors, P. J. Hall, Supervisor for the First district, spoke briefly as did Mayor George E. Faugsted.

Commander Weber then called upon Thomas Maul, city attorney and a member of the post, who promised not to make a speech, threatened to sing and then compromise by reciting "Casey At The Bat." Mr. Maul said he had learned the recitation thirty years ago when De Wolf Hopper was his entertainment idol.

Selections by the Legion orchestra, which had been heard throughout the evening, concluded the program and all adjourned to the club room for a social time while a formal meeting of the post was called later in the evening.

'MAJOR LEAGUER AGAIN' - By Sords

JOHN WHITLOW WYATT

WITH BROOKLYN THIS YEAR, WILL BE BACK IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES FOR HIS FOURTH TRIAL

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—The racing stable with the triangle on its sink is preparing to make a three-cornered affair of the $100,000 run-for-home in the Santa Anita handicap this March.

Beaten out of two fortunes when the kingpin of his stable, Seabiscuit, was nipped at the wire in successive hundred grand finishes, C. S. Howard will shoot for racing's richest prize this year with three crack flyers. Seabiscuit will be there, of course, carrying top weight and most of the public's money. And with him, ready to carry on if he falters or gets knocked out of the running by the hell-for-leather riding that is always there with a big field goes for a big purse, will be two stablemates from the Argentine Pampas, Kayak II and Soretado.

Don't be too surprised if the Howard stable makes up for the heart-breaking defeats of Seabiscuit in 1937 and 1938 by taking win, place and show money this year. Seabiscuit, without most of the fat he accumulated after licking War Admiral, is sharp as a gossip's tongue. He breezed a pole for two between races last week and looked just as fit as he did on that day in Baltimore when he winged away from the Admiral at the start and never was caught.

As for Kayak II and Soretado—well, the Kay number is so good that Ralph Neves, Howard's contract jockey, has openly said that he would rather ride him in the big race than Seabiscuit. Soretado, in morning workouts, has been going so fast that the clockers can hardly believe their watches. Soretado, you know, is the Argentine ace bought for $40,000 after he had made a clean sweep of the big races down below. In order, and with little trouble, Soretado won what corresponds in South America to our Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont stakes.

When he was shipped to this country in October, Howard had no idea that Soretado would be ready for the handicap. Usually South American horses require quite a while to become acclimated, one reason being the difference in seasons. When they are shipped in October, they leave summer weather and their coats are thin. On arriving in California they find winter and nearly freeze until dear Mother Nature thoughtfully provides them with a new horse hair overcoat.

But Soretado had little trouble making himself at home. The sea voyage didn't bother him much, and

Pictures in the Home

People have loved to make and to look at pictures, away before the dawn of history. We are finding their paintings on the walls of caves. The object of a picture is to help us remember something we love to think about or to give us an emotion which we desire. However, with all our civilization, most of us tolerate useless and unattractive pictures in our homes.

We inherit or have wished upon us, or we purchase a picture—and then we are tied to it for life. The picture we selected may have given us joy at the time, but our tastes change as we develop and our pictures should reflect our emotions of this year, else they are dead things.

We pay a few dollars for a bouquet of roses or a hat, but we would not think, because we had invested that much in it, that we must hang on to it forever. We discard the faded roses and last year's hat (or the year before's) but we cling to the pictures, not alone for sentimental attachment, but merely because we have them. We thus deprive ourselves—and our friends—of happiness we might have in our homes.

Were we to buy one or two good new pictures, we would be afraid to trust our own judgment. We fear we can not distinguish between good and mediocre art. It is safe to consult a specialist, the curator of an art gallery, just as we might consult a librarian about books. A really good picture is good for ages. There are ancient masterpieces, and modern ones which will live. Reproductions of these, so perfect that they can hardly be detected from the original, may be purchased for modest prices.

There are loan libraries, or "picture libraries," they might be called, which rent pictures. Before you decide definitely on a picture, it might be a good idea to rent, for a few months, several of such pictures as make especial appeal to you for a time, choose the one which suits you best.

It is really an important matter to select a picture for the home, since, with so many doors and windows, only a few pictures should hang on our walls, and we should tolerate none but the very most desirable, considering family tastes, the style of our house and the type and color of our furnishings.

The pictures we have and do not want to part with might well be placed away on a shelf or place designed for such treasures, where we can take them out and look at them when we wish, but do not have them everlastingly cluttering our precious wall space.

The Hat

Almost everything goes in size, shape and style of hat this season. The kerchief tied, peasant fashion, under the chin has had its day, but the toque and beret seem never to have waned in popularity. For early spring the little hat is the thing. It may be made of jersey, silk, crepe or any soft material which drapes and shirrs well.

Make it with long streamers to twist about the head. The peak at the top will give height to your figure. The veil softens your features and adds lure. The stickup of bow, flower or feather is chic; and of course you will pull the thing down over one eye. Any gay color will do, since this is a color season—and these do not need to match. The wee pill-box, perched over one's frontal, is as striking and ungraceful as ever, but persists nevertheless. Also, as always, there is the ladylike "garden hat"—not for gardening but for the garden party—with its wide brim to make one look, and feel, dressed up.

Food Ideas

Add grated rind of orange to your pastry, biscuit dough or muffin batter, and use the juice as a liquid to combine the dry ingredients.

Gingerbread is a good dessert because it is not oversweet. To make it more nourishing, top it with whipped cream, without sugar.

If your apple sauce lacks flavor, add the juice of a lemon, sprinkling of cinnamon, or a chunk of butter.

Baked bananas are more digestible than raw and furnish an acceptable variety to the menu. They may be baked in their skins or peeled. When peeled, place in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with lemon juice, sugar and butter and bake in a moderate oven about twenty minutes or until slightly translucent.

Breakfast grapefruit may be prepared the night before, wrapped in waxed paper and set upright in the refrigerator. The custom of sugaring the grapefruit for guests is being discontinued, as more and more people are eating their unsweetened.

For orange juice select heavy, thin-skinned oranges. If the juice is too sweet, add a little lemon juice. A half cup is the usual serving and this amount requires an orange and a half.

Left-Over Cheese

When cheese becomes dried it looks and tastes unattractive, but it is a valuable food and should not be wasted. Grate it and store it in a glass jar in a cold place and use it with a bit of mayonnaise as a sandwich spread. Sprinkle it over salads or escalloped potatoes, rice, macaroni or tomatoes. Add to gravies served with toast or greens. Spread it between the sliced halves of rolls and heat them in the oven until the cheese is melted. Sprinkle it over fried toast when the last half is browning in the fry pan. It may be spread over crackers and browned in the broiler. Cheese is a meat substitute and the addition of cheese to a dish makes it so nourishing that it supplies the protein quota needed in the day's diet.

Housewifery

Pot holders are a great kitchen convenience. They should be large enough to protect the hands, flexible enough to hold things securely and equipped with a ring to hang near the range. The ring is better than the loop, which must be opened every time. Rings are available at a few cents a dozen in the ten cent stores.

Sprinkle talcum powder on sticky playing cards and shuffle them well and they will slip easily as when new.

Save the cardboard which comes with new or freshly laundered shirts and use them when packing clothing in your suit case for a journey. These will help to keep the garments from muzzing.

Dishwashing

Many hands make light work in dishwashing, that old bug-a-bear of housekeeping. Where there is no help in the home, it makes the task easier if each member of the family, after a meal, gathers up the dishes near to his place at the table and escort that load to the kitchen. A tray enables one to carry a bigger load when setting table and clearing it. It saves time to wash

"Drums," Empire Film, Story Of India

"Drums," opening Thursday, Feb. 2, at the Empire, is a British production moving back to the spectacle and pageantry from the quiet characters of the English school and high courts to the large scale action of the northwestern frontiers of India, in warfare and in rajahs court. It is a production of splendor and scenic brilliance, with thrills and action, intrigue and cruelty, and a polite note of romance. Filmed in technicolor in India makes it a most beautiful and entertaining picture. Sabu, of "Elephant Boy" fame plays the lead as the friendly prince and all critics hail it as one of the best pictures of the year.

the dishes for two meals together, using plenty of hot suds and a good rinse, and leaving them to drain. If two or more members of the family work together at doing the dishes, it should take but a few minutes to do the job, which is also lightened by the joy of being together.

Mrs. James L. Wilkinson, of Coloma Street near the city limits, is reported as seriously ill at her home with an ailment which, at this writing, has not been diagnosed.

Twenty-ninth birthday of the Boy Scouts of America will be observed throughout the Nation during the week opening on Monday, February 6th.

In co-operation with Scouts everywhere, the members of the five troops in El Dorado County will observe the week and have made plans to attend church services in a body on Sunday morning, Feb. 12, at the Church of Our Saviour. This Sunday is dedicated especially to Scouting.

District Chairman W. T. Henderson reports that all troops in the county, the one at Camino, the one at Diamond and the three troops in Placerville, will hold "open house" at their regular weekly meetings at which time parents and friends of the boys are especially invited to visit with the troop and watch the Scouts at their work and play.

"Of course, the visits of adult friends are appreciated by the Boy Scouts," Chairman Henderson said. "Visitors are always welcome at the troop meetings, but during this anniversary week, we are especially inviting visitors."

This week in the county will reach a climax on Thursday night, February 9th, when the District Court of Honor will be held at the Placerville Grammar School auditorium. The members of all troops have been preparing for several months for this occasion.

More than two hundred awards, which are a recognition of a lesson learned in one or more of the many departments of Scouting, will be presented to Boy Scouts who are members of troops within the county. The public is welcome to attend the Court of Honor and friends of the Scouts are especially invited.

The Fathers' and Sons' banquet, which for several years past has been held during the Boy Scout Anniversary Week, has been postponed until later in the year.

SCOUTING

Troop 57

Tuesday night's board of revue was "Waterloo" for some of our Scouts, but most of them cleared the last hurdle and are ready for the Court of Honor on Feb. 9th, at the Grammar School. At this time all those who would like to share our moment of glory can pin a badge on someone, for there are over a hundred merit badges to be presented to members of our troop. Thursday night is your chance to be a "First Nighter" at our demonstration of Scout Craft, of "Who's got the can opener." Mr. Flynn is advertising for an assistant. It seems that he cannot do all the worrying by himself.

The Troop is having a transcontinental race to New York, with participation in Troop activities counting points or miles. The first patrol to New York wins a prize—a shovel, or some other piece of camp equipment for three patrols, and a large pillow for the Lazy Daisies, in case they win, which is doubtful. The whole trip will be a sort of Scotchman's journey, or sit at home and let your mind wander. The troop is going to attend the Federated Church on Sunday, Feb. 5th.

A. W. Glendenning, of the forest service regional office, was a business visitor on Wednesday from San Francisco.

Constipated?

WPA Paring Increases State Relief Cost

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—State relief administrator H. Dewey Anderson today predicted the cost of relief to California until July 1 would be $25,750,000 and that the recent emergency relief appropriation would fall short of meeting the bill by about $6,000,000.

Anderson said the $150,000,000 pared from the federal WPA appropriation by congress would increase state relief administration costs at least a million dollars.
